Dear Hiring Manager,

I am excited to apply for the Data Product Strategist position at Mindfuel. With a Bachelor's degree in Industrial Management Engineering and a Master's degree in Global Supply Chain and Aeronautical Industry Operations, along with work experience in Logistics and Manufacturing Engineering at Airbus and Amazon, I possess the technical knowledge and practical skills required for the role. Additionally, I am currently enrolled in a Data Science bootcamp to further develop my expertise in statistics, programming, and data analysis techniques.

During my time at Amazon, I honed my analysis skills, gained experience in project management, and developed a passion for leveraging data to drive business decisions. I learned how to effectively collaborate with cross-functional teams and stakeholders to deliver successful projects. As a result, I believe that I can bring value to Mindfuel by combining my analytical skills and project management experience to drive data-driven insights and continuous improvement.

Joining a strong company like Mindfuel and being part of an innovative team would be an exciting challenge for me. I am motivated by the opportunity to contribute my skills and experience to the team and work towards common goals. Additionally, my experience working remotely has prepared me for collaborating effectively in a dynamic and distributed team environment.

I am strongly committed to continuing my career in data product management, and I believe that the Data Product Strategist position at Mindfuel presents the best opportunity for me to advance in this direction. I would welcome the opportunity to discuss with you how my experience can contribute to the current goals of the position.

Thank you in advance for your consideration.

Yours sincerely,

Manuel Chamorro Cañas
